For over 140 years the name Braun has been synonymous with brushes of the highest quality. During this period sanitary standards have become increasingly critical throughout the food industries. To meet these exacting standards, Braun has developed Epoxy Set brushes.

With the traditional staple set method, 35% of drilled hole space remains empty inviting bacteria to where it is impossible to clean. With Braun's Epoxy Set method, the tuft of bristle material is immersed in a non-toxic molten epoxy which hardens into a smooth solid base. This eliminates the tuft holes, thereby eliminating a place for moisture, bacteria and food particles to accumulate.

In effect, Braun's unique Epoxy Set technique creates a permanent sanitary bond that eliminates water and bacteria penetration, gives added strength and better shape retention to bristles, and simplifies brush cleaning while increasing brush life, efficiency and ease of handling.

design your own brush

designing your own brush is easy
